ABOUT CHERYL JUDD-MAGEE

Cheryl is a trained artist and instructor with over 15 years teaching experience. She is versatile in her use of a variety of artistic media, and she has recently been exploring watercolors in her own practice. She knows the power of the visual image and the art-making process to support, inspire, heal, and bring people together. She believes in everyone's ability to express themselves through art and can help you grow in your artistic expression too.

ABOUT LINDA SACRA

Linda has a long acquaintance with Avondale, as she is the sister of Debbie and the daughter of Sigrid Sacra. She has been crafting glass beads and designing jewelry since 1992, and she has won a number of awards for her original designs and detail. She regularly teaches at Penland School of Crafts and out of her own studio. Building upon a successful round of classes in the fall, Linda is pleased to offer a second round of project-based classes as part of Sacred Space Art.

ABOUT MARTHA BRANDEN

Martha is a former Avondale member who is long known for her interest in crafting. She is a talented sewer and is currently, actively developing her skills in weaving. Martha has studied/practiced hand-lettering and calligraphy for several years, and she is pleased to offer a class in italic font. This is a great font format for beginners and a beautiful addition to hand-made announcements and invitations. We are delighted to have Martha join us from her new home in the NC mountains for these classes.

ABOUT CHUCK HENDRIX

"Mr. Chuck" is a well-known member of the Avondale family, especially known for his lollipops. He is a skilled wood-worker who has made cross necklaces, bud vases and Bible boxes for countless church members. He has assisted with numerous furniture projects around the church, as well as wooden construction projects for our Avondale Adventures children, such as bird houses. Chuck is currently pairing his skills as a wood-worker with stained glass mosaics for a new interesting project for participants.
